* reproducibility are often encountered and this affects the quality * * of the microfiche and hardcopy reproductions ERIC makes available *

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This document is a supplement to the Annotated Bibliography of Special Education Instructional Materials which was published September, 1974.

A special word of appreciation is extended to those whose efforts and contributions made this publication possible. Mr. Russ McQuain, Executive Director of the West Virginia Commission on Mental Retardation, assisted in procuring student and financial assistance for the production and dissemination of the document. The services of Jean Galford, Linda Stewart, Nancy Brabbin, Phyllis Vessey, Fred Merchant, and Anita Maschino were provided to the SEIMC by the Commission during the Summer of 1975. Through the efforts of these six summer student workers and with the assistance of Pat Casdorph, IMC clerk, annotations and typing of the manuscript were completed.

Funds were made available from the West Virginia Commission on Mental Retardation from the Developmental Disabilities Act, for printing and dissemination of the document.

FOREWORD

This document is a supplement to the original Annotated Bibliography of Special Education Materials in the College of Graduate Studies Special Education Instructional Materials Center.

The materials are grouped into several major classifications according to their intended use. These classifications are listed in the Table of Contents. It should be noted, however, that a given set of materials may find uses other than the ones for which they are listed.

The West Virginia College of Graduate Studies Special Education Instructional Materials Center serves a statewide function. The materials circulating library permits teachers to look at a wide variety of instructional materials before making a decision to purchase. Loan-by-mail services are maintained that allows materials to be mailed out for a four-week period, while there is a two-week lending period for materials checked out of the Center. In addition, the staff of the Special Education Department at the West Virginia College of Graduate Studies tries to personalize the dissemination of materials with personal contact with teachers and other personnel upon request.

The Center serves as a focal point on the effectiveness and the application of methods, media, and materials to the learning needs of handicapped children by demonstration, conferences, and in-service programs.

The Instructional Materials Center is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.
